The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 16-18, 22-24 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Antonelli et al. (US 5,310,807).

Antonelli discloses formation of a dispersion of a star polymer formed by polymerizing a macromer of weight average molecular weight of 4000-20000 containing isocyanate groups to form a star polymer with 10-50% crosslinked core with at least 3 arms (column 2, lines 21-53). As a crosslinked material (such as the core of patentees) is insoluble, it is apparent that the arms of the star polymer must permit the dispersion of the core which are apparently soluble. The macromer is formed by polymerization of acrylates in the presence of cobalt at column 2, lines 53-55 and column 3, lines 2-13.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 16-18, 22-24 and 26 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 7071264. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the scope of the claims overlap.

Applicant's arguments filed 11-16-07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that Antonelli makes a macromonomer via a cobalt catalyzed reaction. However the instant claims are not limited to the type of reaction needed to produce their macromonomer and in fact the independent claim does not even recite the use of a macromonomer. Applicants argue that Antonelli does not teach producing a polymer via the post reaction method. However, applicants are claiming a product not a process.

With regard to the double patenting rejection, there is nothing in the instant claims explicitly or implicitly requiring a gelled acrylic polymer as crosslinking component.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yakawa et al., cited of interest discloses a self crosslinkable graft copolymer containing (blocked) isocyanate groups but does not disclose or suggest an isocyanate adduct in which an isocyanate is reacted with applicants component "2".

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
